The lineup for the annual Harris Center Public Forum just got a little longer. In addition to celebrated designer Diane von Furstenberg, we're told Miss America 2011 Teresa Scanlan will attend the March 8 event. The forum is sponsored by the Harris Center for Education and Advocacy in Eating Disorders at MGH. Scanlan, who talks about eating disorders as part of her Miss America duties, won't take part in the forum's speaking program, but she will meet with the Harris Center Teen Mentorship Program, a group of girls from Boston-area high schools.■
